Upper Classmen Are Addressed By Dr. Opdyke

Gives Lecture On
"Patterns In Pictures"

The student body of Mary Washington College were privileged to have Dr. George H. Opdyke, of Hartford, Connecticut, as their guest speaker at Convocation on Wednesday evening, October 26, at seven o'clock.

Dr. Opdyke delivered an interesting and highly educational lecture on "Patterns in Pictures," illustrated in slides. His talk is an event that will long be remembered for its simple directness of approach to the fundamental problems in art appreciation.

Dr. Opdyke's career has been an interesting one. After graduating from Wesleyan University, he pursued courses in law and mining engineering at Columbia University, from which he received his Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degree. He is a mining engineer by trade. He never taught nor practiced it, his interest being entirely on the side of art appreciation.

Some years ago Dr. Opdyke published a book entitled "Art and Nature Appreciation." In it he formulated his own method of studying art objects so that all might gain aesthetic pleasure from them. His plan to study is based on the assumption that art is a language; that one should learn to read art aesthetically, as the artist does; in terms of art rather than in terms of artists, art history, and art criticism; learn to judge art by personal analysis instead of by the analysis of others; in short, one should learn to see the arts through personal understanding and judgment. To a multitude of new and basic ideas Dr. Opdyke opens the eyes and minds of his readers.

Former Graduate Accepts Position As Assistant Registrar

Irene Lunday, who graduated in the college this summer, has recently accepted the position of Assistant Registrar, taking the place of Louise Jennings Creamer, who left the college on Saturday, October 15, after working here for two years.

Irene's home is in Emporia, Va., from which place she came to Fredericksburg in the fall of 1935. She majored in Commercial Education and minored in English and Social Science.

While Irene took part in a great number of activities during her schooling, she willingly admits preferring playground and library work, and gardening.

The Student Body welcomes Irene as a member of the Administrative Staff. Her sincere, capable and attractive personality will be a definite asset to the atmosphere on the hill.

Dr. Shankle Honored Professor Here Asked To Contribute Articles

Dr. George E. Shankle, Professor of English, has been invited by Charles Scribner to contribute an article for Mr. Scribner's new compilation, A Dictionary of American History. The subject for this six hundred word article is Virginia state names and nicknames. An authority in that field, Dr. Shankle has prepared the article and it is to be published in the book which will appear next spring. The great honor of having been invited to write for this book was accorded only to well-known experts on various topics and men located in key positions in the United States.

Dr. Shankle has also been invited by the editors of The American Speech Magazine to prepare an article for their publication. This will appear in an early issue of that magazine.

Simultaneously, Dr. Shankle is writing three books. One is a supplement to his already published and widely acclaimed book, "American Nicknames." This book, which was released from press in 1937, has had much favorable attention. A very elaborate and complimentary review of this book is found in the October, 1938, issue of the Journal of Education. Numerous colleges and schools are adopting it as a reference book. Soon the supplement to this successful book will be completed and published. Of the other two books upon which he is working at present, one is about American mottos and slogans, while the other is a very interesting discussion of American pen names.

Research work is demanding a great deal of Dr. Shankle's time. At many local libraries and the Congressional Library in Washington, he is acquiring much necessary data for these three books which will be published within several months.

Changes Made In "Stage Door" Cast Sets By Mr. Faulkner

The Y. W. C. A. benefit, "Stage Door," is rapidly taking shape. The rehearsals show a promising outcome. The lines are nearly learned and many characters are shaping into great statues. Mr. Faulkner is designing the stage set up, which follows closely the lines of the New York stage setting.

A few changes in the cast have been made. Pat Divine (a nightclub dancer), will be played by Nancy Lee Walker of Fredericksburg; Bobbie (a southern belle) will be played by none other than Mary Washington's southern belle, Biddy Miller from Laurens, South Carolina. The part of Ellen has been given to Mary Jane Baty of New Rochelle, New York; Tony will be portrayed by Addie L. Barrett of Norfolk.

There seems to be a coast-to-coast hook-up of characters in this play. Every section of the country is represented. Eleven states, including, Illinois, Virginia, Kansas, New York, Iowa, Colorado, Texas, California, South Carolina, Massachusetts and West Virginia, have made contributions of characters for "Stage Door." Out of a cast of 31, 15 are from Virginia and 15 from out of the state.

Dr. Young Is Accorded Honor

Dr. W. J. Young, head of the Department of Philosophy and Psychology of Mary Washington College has just received notice of his election to membership in the American Association for the Advancement of Science. During the past year, he was also elected a Fellow in the Royal Society of Arts of London. His biography has been in American Men of Science since 1924.

Thomas Lomax Hunter And Josiah Rowe Will Speak To Delegates

Today college journalists from Virginia and the District of Columbia are meeting at Mary Washington under the head of Miss Jane Sinclair, president of the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, for the twelfth annual convention of the organization.

At the banquet in Seabec, Dr. Churchill Gibson, rector of St. James Church in Richmond, Va., is the principal speaker. Jere Willis of Fredericksburg and Mrs. C. L. Bushnell, Dean of Women at Mary Washington will also speak.

Tonight after the banquet an informal dance is being held for the delegates and those participating in the convention.

On Saturday, Thomas Lomax Hunter, columnist for the Richmond Times-Dispatch, and Josiah Rowe, editor of the Fredericksburg Free Lance Star, will speak to the delegates.

Round Table discussions are being led by the following:

Annals: Harry Lavelle of Thomas Ellis Company, and Harold F. Beckett of S. K. Smith Company.

Handbooks and Magazines: Beverly Britton of Richmond News-Leader.

School Newspapers: Miss Daphne Dalley, editor of the Caroline Progress of Bowling Green.

An Inspiration

Each one of us is undoubtedly at different times inspired by many things in this world about us. Do we realize that right now amidst our associations of learning, adjustments, hardships, and joys, we can be aided emotionally by one of the greatest gifts know to man—the endowment of the beauty of nature?

Our campus is indeed a beauty spot, with every important phase of nature represented. Glance at the marvelous appearance of our trees. Sturdy, majestic, graceful—the point of perfection. Each minute detail is revealed before our very eyes. "Only God can make a tree," but can we not mould our lives to similar excellence?

The blue sky above can mean a promise of divine help. The unexcelled melodious notes of the birds, the contented path of the squirrel, the easy babble of the brook, can inspire us to security to joy, to appreciation, and to thankfulness.

Thus, can not this revelation of nature surrounding us inspire us to a challenge? Can it not be an invitation to mould our being into the realm of its simplicity and divinity?

Go forth under the open sky, and list to nature's teachings, while from all around, Earth and her water's, and the depths of air, Comes a still voice."

—Gertrude Preble.

KEYHOLE KOMMENTS

Here I am after my pee-ing—but if you girls would come right out and "tell me these things" it wouldn't be necessary!!

Question—Jenne Johnson, what's the difference in falling down steps and off the side of a car? Oh, well: to you it all amounts to an empty postoffice box, does it not?

Not everyone can receive two-page essays on autumn but Margaret Elmore we'll have to hand it to you—you really got'em. Speaking of shorts—McCulloch did you take the advice of your birthday greeting?

We hear Eleanor Smail, that you are hoping Friday night will bring forth new prospects! More power to you!!

Mary Lawrence, why keep us in suspenders as to the actual facts of your new boy friend?

Hey! Elizabeth Woodhouse, is it a matter of having no stamps—the real reason behind all these recent telegrams to Bob?

Rosale Johnson, what's the feeling when receiving a birthday telegram collect?

At least Convocation held an attraction for Albert Tombs—we heard all about his pleading Connie Hawthorne!

We believe Jimmy Ventura is going in for variety this year—are we right Misses Foster, Cobb and Copeland?

Some people never have to dust out their mail boxes—what's the technique, Spinner, Salbridge and Kerby?

Grundy time's a creeping up—how about that engagement stuff?

Betty Harker, judging from all the clippings you receive, Hotchkiss must really rate at Rutgers—or is it just with you?

Virginia Davis is going home this week-end for a wedding—or is she?

My! My! Dottie Vernon you must be having an awful lot of trouble with your teeth, judging from all the telephone calls and visits from a certain Washington dentist—or is it the heart trouble?

Quiet, please—we want "Whiz" Hall to hear "Change Partners and Dance"—it all adds up to the week-end spent in Blacksburg.

Mary Cox, are you interested in art these days—if so, could it be Clyde's influence?

Hill and Eanes do Lloyd and Lane appreciate your typing class?—they should!

Flash! The very latest development of Mary Washington College is military—since Jane Raye Smith is soon to become Honorary Colonel at M. I. I.

Jennie Ramsey, are you sure the Charlottesville going is merely brotherly love?

Girls—we want your opinion—Is 8:30 A. M. an appropriate time to walk a date around campus?—seems you thought it alright, Charlotte Hall.

What's that terrible noise? Why Peggy Austen could it be your heart missing beats already when Sunday and Bill's arrival are about three days off yet?

Great day! Look where you're going! Why it's Mary Carson—don't mind her, she's still in a fog and can't see or think of anything except Chester and Blacksburg.

Scoop! What pretty Senior almost started the wedding bells to ringing last week-end? We hear the big event has been postponed for a few weeks, but it won't be long now. This is supposed to be a big secret, so we can't mention any names. Watch "The Bullet" for further notices.

Southwest Virginia called many Mary Washington girls last week-end—and for more reasons than one. Margaret McCulloch went home to Buchanan and Nancy Moseley went home to Clifton Forge, while Wiz Hall stopped by home in Pulaski after a week-end at V. P. I.

REVERIE

If you run out of things to talk about when you're dating down here, ask Dinges how to play that new version of hide-and-go-seek. It must be loads of fun—especially when there are only two playing. I think you sing something about "The leaves of brown came tumbling down" while you play.

Why was Marjorie James so anxious for that week-end trip home? Could Jimmy have had anything to do with it?

Mary Miller Crigler seems to be doing all right by Randolph-Macon. There's that boy who comes every Sunday.

The two happiest girls on this campus Sunday must have been Sarah Anne and Nancy Herr. But aren't George and Woody enough to make any girl happy? Now, girls, don't worry. We're not really planning to give you comeption.

It was nice of Sara Anne to pinch-hit for Mil while Mil was supervising in the dining hall Sunday.

Mildred Wilson looked too, too happy over her date Sunday. Love? Well, maybe.

The boy friends of Agnes Wilkie and Dorothy Lambert seem to have a monopoly on clever ways to call them up. They call from one phone and get both girls together on the phone up here. They did that last Saturday and again Sunday. Say how much does it cost to call from Newport News, anyway?

Margaret Emerick seems to be cutting Dot Vernon out as far as Fray is concerned, but Dot still has Louie.

Janet Trennis must have some attraction at home. She hardly ever stays here over week-ends.

Luchbaugh, you'd better get back from V. P. I. on Sunday night next time. This coming in on Monday morning just isn't being done.

Ruth Scariett certainly is partial to Richmond, but with a boy like Charlie coming every week, who wouldn't be partial?

Y. W. C. A. Teas For Students Begun

The first Y. W. C. A. Tea was given Sunday afternoon, October 23, from 3:30 to 4:30 in the Dome Room. Mary Lou Wilcox, vice-president of Y. W., poured for the 250 guests.

The flowers were lovely and beautifully arranged by Mrs. Ellens, the florist. Mabel Moffet planned the refreshments which proved delicious. The Dome Room makes a delightful background for the teas.

Each year Y. W. gives a series of teas for the Mary Washington College student body. The girls are invited in alphabetical order, so that no one should be overlooked. The teas are given to better acquaint the students with fellow-students and members of the faculty.

M. W. C. is certainly going to be well represented at Charlottesville his week-end, and cute girls, too. The urge to dance and see a good game is calling Doris Lushbaugh, Nancy Herr, Liz Woodhouse, Evelyn Florence, Jacqueline Caskie, Evelyn Lasley and Rosalie Johnson. Have a good time, gals!

Anne Parker is spending the week-end at home in Suffolk.

Have you heard about the two too-exciting "current loves" arriving Sunday from Eadenton, N. C. They're guests of Peggy Austin and Eleanor Small; by the way, they'll spend Sunday in Charlottesville.

Virginia Reel is spending this week-end in Washington.

Mo Kent is going home this week-end. Clifton Forge in case you didn't know.

Jaimie Redwood is going to Richmond for the week-end.

Sara Ann Chandler is going home with Mil Powell to Gordonsville this week-end.

Mary Etta Landrum is going to the dances at Charlottesville this week-end.

Girls, have you noticed how happy Charlotte Ramsburg has been looking this week? Saturday she attended the "Terps" vs. University of Virginia game at College Park, Md. That Virginia boy certainly was a honey, but watch it, Charlotte, a senior has her eye on him, too, and upper classmen have the preference.

Virginia Apperson took her class cuts and spent a part of last week in Culpepper.

Sara Branch spent the week-end at her home in McKenney, last week.

Margaret Minter and Virginia Aldrich were week-end visitors in Richmond.

Then old "Chug" Tigner trucked on up to College Park, Md. for the week-end and boy did she truck?

Jean DeCoss went home to Warrenton over the week-end and took with her Kitty Carlson. Washington held some attraction for them both Saturday night and Sunday.

Tiz said Margaret Britton went home to Charlottesville this week-end. Have you noticed the dazed condition?

Mary Jane Beaty was another of the Mary Washington College girls to make Washington her headquarters over the week-end. Ask her who won the game.

Frances Dugger and "Dottie" Day went home to Newport News. Could those beautiful men who are living a Dottie's house now have possibly been the attraction?

NEW FACULTY MEMBERS

Town Girls Club Aids Red Cross

Tuesday, the first meeting of the new Advisory Board of the Town Girls' Club was held at President Elmore Overley's home. This Board is composed of the sponsor, officers of the club, and representatives of each of the four classes.

The board decided that in view of the large increase in the number of members in the club that two pages would be necessary in the Battlefield this year.

RedCross collections from the girls in town will be handled through the board. A house to house or rather room to room canvass will be made in the next few weeks. So, be on the outlook for these "primme" girls.

A box will be put in the room or any contributions that any town girl might like to make to this space in the Bulletin. Anything that you might happen to know that would be of interest will be greatly appreciated.

Laura Holman and Lavelle Phipps will attend the University of Richmond, Washington and Lee game in Richmond on Saturday. May the best team win.

M. W. C. Student Attends Conference

Among the 3000 students attending the Quadrennial Baptist Student Union Conference at Memphis, Tenn., this week is Miss Mabelle Knopf, who is representing Mary Washington College.

An excellent and most beneficial program has been arranged, containing lectures by inspirational speakers of international fame, such as Richard E. Byrd, Geo. W. Truett, Daniel A. Poling, Edna Geister and others.

These programs are planned especially for the college students of the United States. This is the largest Baptist student gathering in the world. Every state of the United States will be represented. Miss Knopf will return to the campus Tuesday, November 1.

Pi Sigma Kappa Enlarges Roll

The Pi Sigma Kappa debating society, which at present is composed of 22 members, met Tuesday for the try-outs. A business meeting was held Thursday to vote on those who will be admitted to membership.

The names of those chosen will be posted today. Next week some time—the exact date is not settled—all new members will be taken into the club.

A Halloween party for the club is also being arranged.

The Pi Sigma Kappa meets regularly every third Tuesday. Mr. Weiss, Dr. Alvey and Dr. Lindsey are the sponsors of the club.

HOCKEY GAMES DOMINATE; PLANS FOR CONFERENCE MADE

The soccer tournament formally opened on Tuesday, October 25th, with the Greengrasses defeating the Greenbacks, 4-0. Most of the contestants were beginners in soccer, but showed much improvement over practice games. All these teams were formed by several games classes.

On Friday, October 28, the winner of the Jitterbugs-Buccaners tilt will face the Greengrasses. Then on Monday, October 31, the winner of the Sweetgrasses-Sox will play the Peglegs, who drew a bye in the first round. The finals will be played on Tuesday afternoon. We might add that all these games are to be played at the eighth hour.

The Sophomores chalked up a great victory for themselves on Thursday, October 20, when they turned back the mighty Senior team, 1-0. Although the Sophomores entered the game as the underdog, they, during the course of play, proved their superiority and walked away victorious. The Seniors were handicapped by the illness of several regular players, but the Sophs were in there fighting like winners and accomplished their aim; they deserved to win.

Fresh from their upsetting victory over the Seniors, the Sophomores turned to face the Junior team on Tuesday, October 25. Both teams were on the field fighting hard until the end. When the final whistle blew, the Juniors reigned on the top, having defeated the Sophs, 3-1. The game proved quite a thriller for both the players and the spectators.

The Juniors outplayed the Sophomores team in the first half, having made all of their goals during this period. However, at the beginning of the second half, the Sophomores returned to the game and showed much more vim, vigor and skill than previously. They pressed the Juniors hard but the veteran Blue team held the Sophs to only one goal.

Helen Hyde informs us that her plans for the Hockey Conference are maturing rapidly. Arrangements have been made for the housing and the entertaining of the girls attending the conference. Helen is looking for more than one hundred and fifty players. A complete schedule of the activities for the week-end will be found in next week's issue.

The schedule for our intra-mural games has been revised and is as follows:

Thursday, October 27, Jr.-Fresh, sixth hour.

Saturday, October 29, Sr.-Fresh, 2:30 P. M.

Tuesday, November 1, Tournament Practice, seventh hour.

Thursday, November 3, Tournament Practice, seventh hour.

Friday and Saturday, November 4 and 5, Conference.

Tuesday, November 8, Sr.-Jr., seventh hour.

Thursday, November 10, Soph.-Fresh, sixth hour.

Swimming Club Opens Season

The Swimming Club recently took into its membership eight girls. These girls automatically became members because they had previously passed the life-saving tests. As their initiation, these girls presented the pop program on Saturday night. Mary Elizabeth Welsh, chairman of Swimming, announced that try-outs are being held for those girls interested in the Swimming Club, although they are not life-savers. From this group, a number of swimmers will be invited to join the club. The club sponsors several telegraphic swimming meets during the year. Those competing for M. W. C. will be selected from this group.

Senior Pictures Made For Battlefield

The regular Senior Class meeting was held last Wednesday, October nineteenth, with Jeanne Johnson, class president, presiding.

During the meeting, the Seniors voted to wear black drapes, with or without pearls, when they have their pictures made for the annual. No other business took place.
